

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

SATURDAY EVENING, AUG. 27

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette
 Officially the State Department has no knowledge of the recall of Minister Herman de Lagerantz, Swedish minister to the United States, and no comment upon the news as reported today in press dispatches from Stockholm could be made at the department. Rumors are current here today that Lagerantz had been himself persona non grata at the State Department by the position which he took upon the question of Swedish immigration. Lagerantz is reported as having advised his countrymen in public speeches to remain at home. That the recall of the recall emanated from Washington, however, seems discredited.

Conditions so favorable as to stand alone in the history of the American farm are pictured in the report of Secretary James Wilson to the Department of Agriculture for the year of 1909 made public today. It is the thirteenth annual report of the secretary and appears in the forthcoming year-book of the department. "Most prosperous of all the years," says Secretary Wilson, "is the place to which 1909 is entitled in agriculture. The year has been beautiful while most crops and prices have been high. Adversely situated as he is in most respects, the farmer is less and less generally compelled to dump his crops on the market at time of harvest. "He does not need to work for his board and clothes, as he often did in the former time when prices were so low as to be unprofitable. The value of the farm products is so incomprehensibly large that it has become a mere word of figures. For this year it is $8,760,000,000; the gain this year over the preceding one is $669,000,000. Ten years ago the value of the products of the farm was only five and one-half times the mere gain of this year over 1900. It was little more than one-half of the total value of this year. The value of the products has nearly doubled in ten years."

Mrs. Charles W. Morse is supposed to be on the way north today from Atlanta where she visited her husband at the federal penitentiary and she may stop in Washington for a conference with the Department of Justice officials regarding the application for the husband's pardon. In her effort to arouse sentiment in favor of the release of the former ice king, Mrs. Morse has reported remarkable success. Petitions she has caused to be circulated having been signed by thousands, including members of Congress. The general impression in Washington is that Mr. Taft will not grant the application for pardon.

Statistics between eighty and ninety fire fighters are known to have been given out an official statement on the worst fire situation, which was transmitted to the bureau by Chief Forester Graves, who is at Missoula, Mont. Mr. Graves says "The serious fire this year are the result of exceptional drought and constant winds. Over ninety large and 3,000 small fires have been extinguished in this district, which includes northern Idaho and Montana."

"Most of the serious fires reported last week are under control. The sudden and terrible blizzard of Saturday started the fire and was the cause of loss of life. The total loss of fire fighters is probably between eighty and ninety. Several large fires now burning are the result of high winds and are not yet under control. The situation is critical but improving and rapid progress is being made."

Favorable reports on the forest fire situation in Montana and Idaho were received today at the War Department from General Walter Howe, commanding the department of the Dakotas. Howe's report, based on telegraphic dispatches from officers conducting the firefighting, states that the snow and rain in the West, the Blackfoot National Forest and the Flathead Indian Reservation in Montana have greatly helped in extinguishing the fires. Severe suffering among the firefighters is reported. Temperature is said to be below freezing. The suggestion is made that the foresters and rangers can now probably control the situation in that vicinity so that the troops may be recalled. A similar report is received from the Lolo National forests in Idaho. Reports from various points in that vicinity indicate that the fires are either out or well under control. It is thought that the four companies stationed at Arce and Dixon, in Montana, will not be needed after a few days of firefighting.

The census office today announced that the 1910 population of the state of Michigan to be 2,810,173 an increase of 389,191. This will probably give Michigan two more congressmen, making the total delegation fourteen. This puts Michigan ahead of Indiana and Massachusetts, according to the 1900 census for those states.

The yearly statistical report of the Supreme Court of the United States issued today shows that when the justices entered upon their labors a year ago there were 485 cases on the docket. During the year 514 new cases were filed, making the total demanding attention 1,000. The court disposed of 393 appeals and 5 original cases, closing the year with 600 on the docket.

Trouble Expected in Portugal.
 Lisbon, via Badajoz, Aug. 27.—Serious fighting between monarchists and republicans is feared at tomorrow's national elections throughout Portugal. In the cities and towns, where, because of their industrial population, the worse trouble is looked for, the garrisons have been heavily reinforced. Little dependence can be placed in the army or the navy. Both are thoroughly saturated with republicanism.

That the monarchists will again attempt to tamper with the ballot boxes is considered certain, and it is this that is likely to cause trouble, for the republicans are better prepared to resist this than ever before. They began preparations weeks ago to break up the political monopoly enjoyed by the liberals and conservatives, whom they accuse of alternately looting the public treasury. If the voting is fair, the republicans assert they will win.

Roosevelt in Cheyenne.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 27.—Former President Roosevelt was given a hearty reception today when he was the guest of honor at the closing day's exercises of the Frontier celebration.

After the parade (which was the feature of the day) Mr. Roosevelt was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by prominent Wyoming men and immediately after noon was taken to Frontier Park, where he delivered his set address from a stand in front of the grand stand.

Tomorrow Roosevelt will be given a farewell ride to United States Senator Warren's ranch, to Fort D. A. Russell, and to other nearby points of interest. The colonel leaves for Denver at 8:35 Monday morning.

Word that the Nassau county republicans had named him a delegate to the New York state republican convention was received by Roosevelt on his way to Cheyenne. He merely smiled and said he would be at Saratoga. The colonel refused to discuss the movement begun in Orleans county, New York, to elect him temporary chairman of the convention over the head of Sherman. It can be stated on the best authority, however, that any scheme on the part of the "old guard" in New York to nominate Roosevelt for governor and to nominate him by knifing him at the polls, which has been widely rumored, will fail. Roosevelt will absolutely refuse to run for governor.

A Sweeping Decision.

New York, Aug. 27.—A labor union that orders a strike to enforce a demand for a closed shop violates the law, it is the decision of Justice Goff, of the Supreme Court, handed down today in the suit of the Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Association against the International Garment Workers' Union, and is the most sweeping anti-labor injunction ever rendered by any court.

Justice Goff issued an injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with the operation of the establishments of the members of the Employers' Association, and his decision is expected to go a long way toward compelling the cloak strikers to accept the compromise agreement arranged by their leaders which they last night rejected.

Justice Goff refers to a decision made in the State Court of Appeals which declared that it was against public policy for employers who control practically the whole trade in a community to combine to compel workmen to join a particular union.

"If it is the law that employers cannot combine to force labor unions," rules the court, "what the employers may not do, the workman may not do. The primary purpose of this strike is not to better the conditions of the workmen, but to deprive other men of the opportunity to exercise their right to work, and to drive them from an industry in which they have acquired skill, and which they have a right to pursue to gain a livelihood without being subjected to the doing of things which may be disgraceful or repugnant."

Failed to Find Heine.

New York, Aug. 27.—Despite the fact that process servers maintained a close watch on the usual haunts of Fritz Augustus Heine, the Montana copper king, they failed to locate him today to serve him with the summons in the suit brought by Mrs. Lillian Hobart French for $26,000. At her apartments in Harlem Mrs. French said she would have some additional letters sent to her by Heine to make public before the suit is tried. Continuing she said:

"I certainly intend to see that this man makes good his promises to me. He owes me the $25,000 for the copper stock, and he will have to make good on his promise to make me a regular allowance every week." Just when Heine and Mrs. Bernice Golden Henderson, the actress, are to be married, is not known.

Will Spend Sunday with MacVeigh.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 27.—To spend Sunday as the guest of Secretary of the Treasury MacVeigh, President Taft, Mrs. Taft, Miss Helen Taft, and Mrs. Louise More, Mrs. Taft's sister, left here after lunch for the automobile immediately after the luncheon at Dublin N. H. The party is due there late this afternoon. This morning President Taft and his military aide, Captain Archibald Butt, played a round of golf at the Myopia Country Club. The Taft letter to Congressman McKinley, to be incorporated in the campaign text book, has been completed and will be made public Monday.

The Cool Wave.

New York, Aug. 27.—With a drop over night of twenty-two degrees, wraps were in demand in this city today. The transition from sultry to autumn weather proved most welcome, especially in the crowded sections and downtown among the sky scrapers where men and women had been sweltering for nearly a week. Thursday the thermometer registered in the nineties, yesterday the maximum was 85 and today it was 63. The weather boys said the cool weather would continue.

Kernit Roosevelt.

Paris, Aug. 27.—Looking as browned as when he emerged from the African wilds, Kermit Roosevelt today returned from a week's incognito walking trip through parts of Asia Minor. He was alone on this trip and reported a lively time. Monday Kermit starts on a chamois hunt in the Hungarian mountains. A week later he will go to Josselin, in Brittany, to be the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Rohan in their chateau.

Vanderbilt Improving.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27.—According to the physicians attending upon Reginald Vanderbilt today his temperature is much lower and his general condition encouraging. Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt is constantly at the bedside and his brother, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, is expected to arrive soon. Cornelius Vanderbilt is in Europe and it was said today that Regie's condition is not serious enough to warrant his return.

That Japan contemplates a pacific role in Korea, whose annexation to Japan will be formally promulgated probably on Monday, was indicated today by Resident General Terauchi, at Tokyo, who declared that Japan's rule will be directed toward a steady improvement and development of the Hermit Kingdom.

Crippen and Miss Leneve in England.

Liverpool, Aug. 27.—The steamer Megantic with Dr. Crippen, alleged murderer of his wife, Belle Elmore, and Miss Ethel Clark Leneve, his typist, aboard, docked here shortly after noon today, after an uneventful voyage from Montreal.

The prisoners came ashore through a line of police, made necessary by the great crowd gathered at the pier and the threats of violence against Crippen. The doctor seemed indifferent to the demonstration, but Miss Leneve was greatly agitated. The prisoners were in charge of Inspector Dew and Detective Sergeant Mitchell, of Scotland Yard, while two wardresses also looked after Miss Leneve.

Immediately after landing, the party took a train for London. Crippen and Miss Leneve will have their preliminary hearing before Judge Sir Albert De Butzen in the Bow Street Police Court, at the earliest possible date. They will be arraigned together, but if it is decided, as seems likely, not to prosecute the girl, she will be held only as a witness.

It is practically certain that Crippen will be bound over to the Central Criminal Court, commonly known as "Old Bailey." The trial will hardly begin before the latter part of October. The charge against Crippen, in the light of information now at hand, will be murder, manslaughter, illegally performing an operation, cutting, mutilation or maliciously wounding, or a combination of several of these.

The government must prove that a murder has been committed, that it was Belle Elmore Crippen who was murdered, that the prosecution has the body of the murdered person and that Crippen is the murderer. Few lawyers believe that Crippen can be convicted on the evidence. In case of a conviction with a recommendation to mercy, Crippen will be sentenced to death, but such recommendations are almost always followed by a commutation of sentence by the home secretary.

Aviator Falls into the Water.

New York, Aug. 27.—Carried out to sea by a strong wind against which his motor was powerless, J. C. (Bud) Mars, the aviator, was being swept toward Sandy Hook early today when his Curtiss aeroplane suddenly collapsed. It dropped like a stone into the water about 300 yards from the club house of the Atlantic Yacht Club at Sea Gate. Mars got out of the machine in time and was soon picked up by a tug. He was apparently unhurt, but the tug Hustler of the Merritt-Chapman Company which at once began an effort to recover the bi-plane.

Crowds on shore saw the accident and the wrecking station immediately sent out a tug. Mars was found to be uninjured except for shock sustained in the fall. From this he quickly recovered.

Mars said to a United Press representative at the Atlantic Yacht clubhouse, "So after the accident."

"It was a fortunate thing for me that the mishap occurred while I was flying over the water. Had I fallen a distance of five hundred feet and landed on hard ground, I might have been badly maimed up. I was in the water, but I didn't mind that when I realized that I had escaped unhurt."

Mr. Bryan Not a Candidate.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 27.—In an interview here Mr. Bryan said: "I will not be a candidate for president in 1912. There is plenty of good material in the party. I believe the democrats will control the next House. I was pleased to note the statement of Col. Roosevelt in which he said that the time had come for corporations to be driven out of politics. The democrats for years have been urging this very thing."

Gale off Irish Coast.

London, Aug. 27.—A heavy gale off the Scotch coast today probably has cost the British navy two boats, the torpedo destroyers Success and the corvette boat No. 13. The Success, which went aground in Loch Cade, may be pulled off and saved, but there is little hope of saving No. 13, which is lodged on the rocks near Campbelltown. The crews of both boats were rescued.

BALLINGER WILL BE EXONERATED.

From an authoritative source it is learned that the majority report in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation has been completed and records the following findings:

That the investigation, based on false and unwarranted charges, should never have begun.

That mere differences of opinion with regard to policy do not constitute malfeasance of office on the one hand and evidence of a high sense of duty on the other.

That personal animosity was the chief basis for the attacks on Secretary Ballinger, of the Interior Department.

That the only good result of the investigation is that it is now clear that the United States should adopt a definite, comprehensive and permanent conservation policy along lines that will be indicated by the report.

ROW AT MEETING.

Attorney General Frazer Lynn, candidate for reelection, was assaulted at Laurens, S. C., at a democratic campaign meeting, while addressing voters. The assault grew out of the old dispensary scandal, and was led by Editor Crews, of a Laurens paper, who was supported by a number of friends.

As Crews' friends leaped on the platform, Lynn, who is a powerful man, began to fight. He knocked down Crews and two of his friends, and threw three others off the platform.

Speaker Cannon, it is said, will visit the Ninth district to assist Congressman Sloop in his campaign. Mr. Sloop was an ardent supporter of Mr. Cannon in the rules fight in the House. Former President Roosevelt will, it is said, also visit the Ninth district in behalf of Sloop, speaking at Bristol October 7. Mr. Sloop finds that it will take all the help he can get to save him.

Official returns from Isle of Wight county bring down William A. Young's majority over Representative Harry L. Maynard to 39. James V. Trehy, who leads the Norfolk organization, was present at the Isle of Wight canvass. Maynard's net gain in Isle of Wight is 16. Some official returns from the Princeton Anne clerk's office yesterday afternoon gives Maynard 54 majority, a gain of two.

NEW REGULATIONS SOON EFFECTIVE.

The State Department of Health on Tuesday began the distribution of the new rules and regulations for the protection of the public health. These regulations which were authorized by the last assembly and approved by the state board of health are in pamphlet form and will be circulated as widely as possible.

According to a prominent health official, the department in issuing these regulations aims to give the greatest possible protection to the public with the least exacting demands on private citizens. Most of the regulations relate to the sanitation of railroad cars, stations, schools, and churches, while others refer to quarantine and isolation. The boards of health have punitive powers for the enforcement of these regulations, but it is generally thought that the justice of the regulations will so appeal to the people of the state that few prosecutions for failure to comply with the regulations will be necessary.

All of the new rules become effective September 1, and will be rigidly enforced after that date, but the special regulations for the prevention of typhoid fever and hookworm disease, requiring the construction of sanitary privies, do not become effective until January 1, in order that all may have ample time to make the necessary changes in their out buildings. An added interest is given the promulgation of these rules at this time by the fact that the cholera epidemic which is threatening Italy and ravaging Russia may possibly reach this country. "Should cholera come to America," said a Health Department official today, "it will be found that the safety of the people depends upon rigid adherence to such rules as those issued today. These rules are as good protection against cholera as they are against typhoid fever, and their enforcement gives as much protection against the great scourge of the orient as against the white plague of the west."

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Thursday of last week, Woodbridge, in this county, was the scene of an accident that resulted in death. Mr. Mitchell Luckett, of Fairfax county, was engaged in digging a rather deep well. While his brother was assisting him in arranging for a load to be taken up, let fall a board, which struck Mr. Luckett, killing him almost instantly. Mr. Burdett was rendered almost frantic by the terrible accident, and the realization that a wife and child must soon be told of the tragic death of husband and father. Mr. Luckett's remains were sent to his home near Pollock. [Manassas Journal]

OATH SEALS CENSUS MOUTHS.

All new appointees of the census office are now required, upon subscribing to their oaths, to swear that they will not reveal any part of the results of their work of tabulation nor any of the results of the tabulation of their fellow-workers in advance of the official publication of the census data by the orders of the director.

It is understood that the director has taken this method to prevent leaks of valuable statistics of all kinds, a knowledge of which in the hands of the wrong people might grant them advantages in business in the markets of the country, unfair to the public at large.

WARIKE EAGLE CAPTURED AT LARGE.

The big black eagle that terrorized campers near South Beach, S. I., last Friday and tried in vain to fly away with Henry Merritt, revisited the camp Wednesday. Alexander G. McCourt and Lindsey Merrill saw the eagle perched on the cross beam of a telegraph pole. While they were trying to decide how to capture the bird, McCourt's cat, Capt. Topey joined them and stood at her master's feet staring upward at the big black bird. Suddenly the eagle swooped downward and, burying its claws in the cat's back, spread its wings and soared high in the air.

McCourt and Merrill last saw the eagle as it crossed the bay toward Long Island bearing the cat in its claws.

HORSE AND DOG FIGHT.

With the ending of a long friendship between a bulldog and a horse owned by the Rev. Dr. F. S. Boice, pastor of Olivet Presbyterian Church, Prospect Park, Chester, Pa., on Tuesday came the death of the horse.

It may have been that the horse, trapped on his friend, or, perhaps, the two engaged in a death battle in the clergyman's stable.

When the noise of the conflict reached the Rev. Dr. Boice ran to the stable. He saw the horse struggling with the dog's teeth deep into its throat. Efforts to make the dog release his hold were futile. Finally a bullet sped to the horse's brain, ending its suffering.

Even then the dog refused to release his death grip, and it was some time before his master succeeded in getting him away.

Examination disclosed that the horse's back had been broken. It is believed that when the dog fastened his teeth into the horse's neck he shut off its wind, causing it to fall heavily on the cement floor of the stall.

Dog and horse had, according to Doctor Boice, always been on the most friendly terms, the dog lying for hours in the horse's stall, apparently delighted by the companionship of his equine friend.

Suicide of a Striker.

New York, Aug. 27.—The resumption of the cloak makers' strike today, after an apparent settlement had been reached, was marked by one suicide, a pistol fight in which a picket was shot through the arm and numerous riots. The renewal of the strike resulted from the strikers' rejection of their leader's proposal to concede the closed shop contention or the manufacturers.

When this plan was announced by John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, who had been sent here by President Gompers to conduct the strike, at a big meeting last night the strikers became so enraged that Lennon and others thought it best to retire from the scene.

Morris Levinson, whose funds had been exhausted by the strike and who was tired of being a charge on his mother, shot himself through the head when he heard that the strikers would not go back to work Monday. An early hour today the police were called to Everett Hall, on east Fourth street, to clear the place of a number of strike pickets, who had been making the hall their headquarters. They engaged in a fight this morning, in which Joseph Mrie was shot through the arm.
